I SHALL PASS THIS WAY BUT ONCE THEREFORE ANY GOOD THAT I CAN DO OR ANY KINDNESS THAT I CAN SHOW LET ME DO IT NOW FOR I SHALL NOT PASS THIS WAY AGAIN.

KEEPING THOSE CAMPAIGN PROMISES

Now that we have fresh new ideas and ideals in the leaders of our nation and state government, we can sit back and see if they work toward the commitments they made while campaigning.

Mr. Jimmy Carter, President-elect, stated that we can look forward to a government that will be open and responsive to the concerns and the needs of all people. Mr. Carter further stated that with the combination of Carter and Mondale in the leadership seat the U.S. citizen can look forward to a government that will recognize and alleviate these needs in health care, education, housing, unemployment, aid to the elderly and many other areas.

Well the voters are now saying, O.K. Mr. Carter, we are ready. You say you have the desire and the knowledge to achieve these goals. Then go to work.

Now let's get to the state level. The Washington State voters indicated by the way they cast their ballots that they wanted a change. Dixie Lee Ray promised a change and now she has a chance to prove that she can solve problems too.

Dr. Ray promised to work towards a better economy, a better school system and prosperity for Washingtonions. The people of Washington liked what she said and now have put her in office so she can prove that she can come up with a solution on taxing, how to finance schools and how to run the state without gouging the tax payers.

And I must say that I will wait patiently and see, and hope that Mr. Carter and Dr. Ray can come up with a better way to run the government, and solve the problems with - as Dr. Ray stated - common sense and not political ploys. RIGHT ON!

Army Plans Mobilization Exercise

FORT LEWIS, WA. -- Selected units of the Army National Guard and the U.S. Army Reserve throughout the continental United States will participate in a month-long mobilization evaluation exercise called MOBEX 76, starting November 8.

U.S. Army Forces Command (FORSCOM), headquartered at Fort McPherson, Ga., will direct the exercise.

A FORSCOM announcement said the Army-wide exercise will evaluate mobilization planning and capabilities of both FORSCOM and other major Army commands, the continental U.S. Armies and selected installations.

It emphasized that the operation is pre-planned and in no way reflects the current world situation.

With the exception of two general support-type Army Reserve units, no actual assembly or movement of troops will be involved, it said.

FORSCOM is responsible for maintaining the combat readiness of all deployable Army troops in the United States, Puerto Rico, Virgin Islands and Canal Zone in Panama. Its three continental armies supervise the training of the Army National Guard and command the Army Reserve units.

The Pacific Northwest is included in the Sixth U.S. Army area. The headquarters is at the Presidio in San Francisco.

FORT LEWIS, WA -- Ninth Infantry Division training expeditions will span the nation and range from Alaska to Panama in the next eight months.

Five of its infantry battalions, each accompanied by an artillery battery, will practice surf landings on the southern California coast and take part in live-fire exercises at the Marines' Camp Pendleton.

A platoon exchange arrangement with units based in Panama will send 9th Division troops to the isthmus for "Riverine" training in the swamps and jungle there.

Eastward, company training exchanges will take "Old Reliables" to the Sand Hills of North Carolina, and to Fort Carson, Colo., and Fort Campbell, Ky. Other exhcanges are slated with infantrymen based at Fort Richardson, Alaska and a 1st Marine Division at Camp Pendleton.

Some 1,500 soldiers will take part in Joint Readiness Exercise Jack Frost 77 in January in Alaska.

The routine of training here at the Yakima Firing Center will be broken for many soldiers by adventure training expeditions in the Pacific Northwest. Plans include mountain climbing, river rafting, survival treks, and ski and cold weather training at Fort Lewis Mountain Training Camp at Huckleberry Creek in the Snoqualmie Forest.

Other companies will conduct exercises at Camp Bonneville, near Vancouver, Wash., and Camp Rilea in Oregon.

Blessing to my Little People

"A THANKSGIVING"

My Bicentennial Thanksgiving prayer unto GOD, for the need of my Little People, who are all over the four corners of the Earth, who have lost their rights to turn the soil of the Earth, for the need of their daily bread. I also pray for those who price the food of our Nation, for to price it beyond the mouth of my Little People, and cause the pain and hunger is Sin before GOD.

Yet as we have walked the fields of nakedness, we as Little People know the bread of life comes from above so for this we thank GOD, that the life which is in Jesus Christ's name, may be the hunger of my Little People unto its end, that they may be filled, Amen.

Spinners Raise $60 Thousand For Jackie Wilson

For eight months, Atlantic recording stars, the Spinners, along with their manager, Buddy Allen and a select committee of industry execs, worked to put together a benefit to raise funds for singer Jackie Wilson. This month at the famed Latin Casino in Cherry Hill, New Jersey, the Spinners, along with Harold Melvin, the B.T. Express, Stephanie Mills, Sister Sledge and Al Green, raised over 60,000 dollars to aid Wilson who had been hospitalized for a year suffering from the results of a stroke. Dick Clark, Don Cornelius and CBS' LeBaron Taylor, emceed before an SRO audience of 2,500 people who had paid from $10.00 to $100.00 for tickets. All the personalities paid their own expenses, Charles Gerson donated the Latin Casino and the Spinners, besides contributing $5,000.00, paid for all additional expenses including advertising, to ensure the benefit's success.

Wilson therapist, Dr. A. Richardson, told the Spinners when they visited Wilson, "You're doing more to lift his mental spirits that I could ever do with my hands."

The Spinners have long been noted for their efforts on behalf of numerous worthy causes. Earlier this year, Eilnne M. Garden of Philadelphia, was selected as recipient of the "Spinners Scholarship Fund", providing Eileen with a four year college education. "I was stunned when I found out. Later I had a chance to meet them and I was immediately taken with them, they're so warm and really nice people." The fund, personally underwritten by the Spinners, is one way in which the group is saying "thank you for their success."

Their current album Happiness Is Being With The Spinners, has just been certified GOLD as their single hit, Rubber Band Man, continues to climb the charts, giving them their tenth gold platter.

Spinners fans will be able to see them perform on Nov. 9th, when they star in their own television special on 269 stations on the P.B.S. network.

The Spinners are certainly one of the most reliable forces within the music industry today, a group whose success has gone not to their heads but rather to their hearts.

State's Role in Housing Conference

"Housing Washington's People is the title of a two day conference, November 15 and 16, at the Tacoma Bicentennial Pavilion. The Conference will focus on the state government's roles in housing.

It is a project of the Washington State Low Income Housing Strategy Conference, an ad hoc group of persons throughout the state who agreed to meet three times a year to work on housing solutions. This followed a meeting of 105 persons in October, 1975 at Lake Wilderness, King County. At that time they identified their purpose to be: "To act together to improve the quality and the quantity of housing in the state of Washington with the emphasis on low and moderate income housing."

Dignataries speaking include: Governor elect Dixy Lee Ray, congressman elect Norm Dicks, Professor Robert Dietz, (University of Washington School of Architecture), Gregg Smith, (Director of the Housing Division of the Oregon State Department of Commerce, Labor and Industry), Jim Wiley, Director of the King County Housing Authority, Tacoma mayor Gordon N. Johnston, (who will give the keynote opening address), Ms. Belinda Pearson, Vice President and Assistant Economist, Seattle First National Bank, Dave Dujardin, Presidnet of the Seattle Home Builders Association, Nick Pettit, Housing Director of the State Office of Community Development, Ms. Susan Peck, west coast representative of the Housing Assistance Council, Inc. of Washington, D.C., Mrs. Naomi Cummings, President of the Washington Association of Community Action Agencies, Frederick C. Stouder, Director of the Yakima Department of Community Development Carsten Lien, Vice-President of the Washington Mutual Savings Bank, John Teutsch, Jr., President of the Rainier Mortgage Company, representative Floyd Hicks (newly elected to the state supreme court), Chairman of the Board of Pierce County Commissioners, Patrick Gallagher. Also speaking will be Omar Brown, of the Washington State Association of Homebuilders.

The meeting is co-sponsored by the Washington State Association of Community Action Agencies, Inc. and the Washington State Office on Aging.

The general chairperson of the meeting is Norman McLoughlin, State Housing Conference, Mail Stop 433, Olympia, Washington, 98504, telephone 206-753-4793.

Locally the Conference is announced as part of the information sharing work of the Pierce County Community Action Agency's Housing and Information Referral Service. Executive Director Brendan Gallagher states that housing continues to be a crisis in rural Pierce County with low vacancy rates for rental units, poverty of 10.3% in the area with pockets of poverty reaching to 15 and 16%, and with the military families occupying over 12,000 units of housing off the bases, thus adding to the shortage of rental units.

Mr. Gallagher said, "Hopefully tne next session the legislature will give a legislative framework in which Pierce County can develop housing for senior citizens and low income families in outlying areas of the county."

The Conference begins at 9:00 each morning. There will be a no-host luncheon on Monday at which time the guest speaker will be Representative Floyd Hicks. The event is open to the public. Registration is $3.00. The cost of the no-host luncheon is $4.50. Dick Hemstad, director of the Office of Community Development has pointed out "Washington is the largest state in the country without some form of state financial support for housing." Mr. McLoughlin says that the Conference will be a goal-oriented, problem-solving, task-directed opportunity for developing viable solutions. We encourage legislators, consumers, housing industry, financial providers, and government sectors to come to this Conference and learn about the housing needs of the elderly, the low-income, and the disabled. We believe it will be a unique opportunity."

ROBERT F. POINDEXTER

This is an EXCLUSIVE article, never before published, of a Black American, Robert F. Poindexter, a University of Washington student who has saved the lives of four White Americans--including the former Governor Tom McCall of Oregon. (However, one of those individuals, a tiny blonde girl, died in his arms). To date, he has never been recognized by the press. In fact, to date, no one has even bothered to say, "Thank you".

An assasination plot upon Governor Tom McCall of Oregon was uncovered by Poindexter when he learned that the governor would be murdered. Said information was immediately relayed to the governor's neice's husband (who was a member of the U.S. Olympic Equestrian Team in Mexico a few years ago), et al.

When the Governor was hospitalized into a secret hospital room a bomb of high explosive magnitude was discovered beneath the secret hospital room of Governor McCall. The bomb was defused by the bomb experts of the Oregon State Police. To date, no one, including the governor or his family has even bothered to thank Poindexter. During this time the Governor of Oregon was mentioned as the vice-president candidate on the Eugene McCarthy ticket.

A few weeks prior to the Governor Tom McCall assasination plot, Poindexter saved the life of a White co-ed, unknown to him, who was viciously stabbed five times by a crazed rapist at Portland State University. At that time Poindexter was a resident of the college dorm when he was awaken by early morning screams of a co-ed who was almost killed at the point of a dagger cutting into her flesh by the wild eyed rapist. Each time during her struggle for life she repeatedly grabbed the plunging dagger. As she grabbed the dagger the rapist slided it thru her closed hands ripping her flesh to pieces.

Poindexter, a vocal-pianist composer, quickly ran to aid the co-ed a lengthy distant from his dorm room and bare-handedly confronted the assailant who knocked him down while trying to escape. Other men in the dorm, peering wild eyed from their cracked-opened doors, refused to assist Poindexter. Due to his intervention the rapist was apprehended a few minutes later by police.

Poindexter, a hero? No. When KING T.V. presented a news documentary of the rape incident the dormitory management came down so hard on him that he was forced to move from the college!

Poindexter was nearly ran over from fast moving highway traffic while attempting to aid a nine year old blond girl who was struck by a hit and run motorist in American Forks, Utah. The little girl died in his arms. No one attempted to assist him in his futile efforts to save the girl. No thanks from the Utah Police...

During a rainy night he was awaken by the screams of a woman being molested in the alley outside his Seattle Y.W.C.A. Public Hotel room. The male clerk at the desk and the night janitor immediately refused to assist him to aid the woman victim. His action distracted the molester until the Seattle Police arrived. A hero? No, the Y.W.C.A. Public Hotel announced that the incident did not occur!

Poindexter was totally ignored by the Seattle City Council and KIRO T.V. when he unsuccessfully tried to petition for a Seattle financial compensation for funeral expenses for the late Richard Coombs, a young man who was stabbed to death as he tried to defend a sixty-five year old woman from an armed assailant....

Poindexter was greatly honored when His Majesty Carl XVI Gustaf, King of Sweden, granted him a personal audience in Seattle--however, the major local press totally ignored the occasion!

After a brief interview by a leading newspaper in Seattle, Poindexter was erroneously arrested in the lobby of the newspaper building by the police. Immediately, the printing foreman interceded in explaining to the police that the man to be arrested was a white printer standing in the lobby. Poindexter was the only Black in the lobby. The newspaper refused to print any material with regard to the aforesaid!

Poindexter currently an assistant at Seattle Black Academy of Music does not consider himself a brave man. He says he doesn't know how to fight and that during the reported incidents God gave him the courage to act.

Recognition Program to Celebrate Angolan Independence

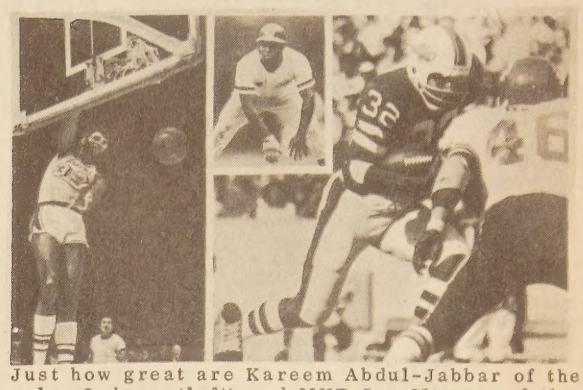
November 11, 1976 marks the first anniversary of independence for the People's Republic of Angola. In recognition of this, the American Friends Service Committee, the National Anti-Imperialist Movement in Solidarity with African Liberation (NAIMSAL), and the Venceremos Brigade are co-sponsoring an event Friday, November 12 at 7:30 p.m. at Mount Zion Baptist Church (19th and Madison) to celebrate Angolan independence. The goal of the program is to highlight the continuing struggles of African peoples against colonial and neo-colonial oppression, especially as it exists in southern Africa.

The highpoint of the activities will be the guest appearance of Angolan MPLA representative Ms. Loide Santos. Ms. Santos currently resides in Philadelphia, where she is attending Temple University and teaching in the African Studies Department. The mother of five children, she works in Special Education for the local Baord of Education. She is also the vice-president of the South African Research Association and a member of the Angolan Commission for Action.

Ms. Santos will be the keynote speaker in the program which includes a performance of African music, a short skit on Angola, and the showing of two films, "Armed Struggle in Angola" and "Last Grave at Dimbaza." A donation is asked.

Ms. Santos is also scheduled to speak in the Seattle University Library on Thursday, November 11 at 7:30 p.m.

Sports Computer Evaluation Shows the Greatest



Just how great are Kareem Abdul-Jabbar of the Los Angeles Lakers (left) and MVP Joe Morgan of the Cincinnati Reds (inset)? Or Buffalo Bills' running back O.J. Simpson (right)? The unique Seagram Seven Crowns of Sports computer evaluation program may provide the answers.

What is greatness in professional sports? Is it a Wimbledon victory or an NBA scoring crown? Is it baseball's MVP award or the NFL rushing title? Or is it a combination of factors, physical, emotional and statistical, an intangible that is not always easy to define?

And when it has been defined, how is this quality measured? O.J. Simpson is great. But how great? How does one accurately assess O.J.'s greatness? Or Joe Morgan's? Or Kareem Abdul-Jabbar's?

The Seagram's Seven Crowns of Sports computer evaluation program may have found the answer, or at the very least a partial answer, to these questions.

Using a complicated set of formulas, all of them based on a lengthy computer study of statistical performances in the four major team sports as well as golf, tennis and horse racing, this unique program comes closer to fairly and objectively evaluating levels of achievement in sports than any system ever devised.

"Now in its third year, the Seven Crowns program compiles data on all professional athletes, weighs and evaluates this information, measures it against a computer-based standard of achievement and comes up with a Productive Efficiency Rating (PER) which provides a total statistical picture of each performer. There is no guesswork, no speculation, no sentiment or favoritism -- only solid evidence based on cold statistical analysis," Al Fleishman, president of Seagram Distillers Co., points out.

Taking it a step further, the Seagram's system also attempts, where possible, to measure "performance under pressure," as in hockey, where goals and assists are mathematically "weighted" according to time left to play, score and the final outcome of the game.

"This added dimension of performance under pressure is an intriguing element of our program," says Mr. Fleischman. "It enables us to determine which players make the more significant contributions to team victory.

"Above all, the Seagram's system rewards those players who demonstrate consistency and productivity, as well as those who perform effectively in major events (the U.S. Open, Kentucky Derby etc.) where the demands on an athlete are great and where pressure is felt most intensely."

Joe Morgan, Jack Nicklaus and Chris Evert, two-time winners of $10,000 Seven Crowns of Sports awards, reflect this day in and day out consistency, this ability to win under pressure, Mr. Fleischman emphasizes.

Consistency? O.J. Simpson of the Buffalo Bills, the Seagram football winner, also has it. So do Kareem Abdul-Jabbar of the L.A. Lakers, Guy Lafleur of the Montreal Canadians, tennis king Jimmy Connors and golf's JoAnne Carner, other $10,000 champions for 1976. Not only consistency but also the knack of dominating their rivals.

How did Lafleur win the hockey award? Simply by scoring the winning goal in the final game of the season for Montreal, a clutch goal that gave him a razor-thin 82.7 to 82.6 PER edge over teammate Ken Dryden, the Montreal goaltender, who had led the competition most of the season. Had Lafleur's shot been just another goal and not the winning goal, Dryden would have earned the $10,000.

Jockey Jorge Tejeira, a virtual unknown, took the horse racing prize thanks to his habit of winning "quality" races (those with purses of $50,000 or more) more often than some of the sport's better known riders. A surprise? Sure -- but the record bears out Tejeira's designation as the most consistent in his trade.

Jabbar narrowly edged Julius (Dr. J) Erving in basketball (77.9 to 77.8). JoAnne Carner had only a slender one-point edge over LPGA rival Judy Rankin in other close finishes this year. Morgan, on the other hand, made baseball competition, finishing with a near-perfect PER of 96.0 that left second baseman Randy Jones, who was second at 73.8.

Is Morgan the greatest second baseman of all-time? That's difficult to say. But according to all the Seven Crowns data, the little Cincinnati infielder is the greatest all-around player in the modern game.

Anyone who wishes to challenge this claim had better be prepared to battle it out with the computers!

Mann's Bits and Pieces

by Dave Mann

PITT'S TONY DORSETT Sports Editor

In professional athletic jargon he would be known as "The Franchise." At the University of Pittsburgh he should be known as "The Program." And what a program he is.

Four years ago when Johnny Majors was named head coach of the then floundering Pitt football fortunes, the ink had scarcely dried on his contract before he set sail for Hopewell High School in Alquippa, Pa., the home of Anthony (Hawk) Dorsett.

The results of that visit have proved to have far-reaching historical significance.

In his teams 45-0 submerging of the Naval Academy on Oct. 23, a host of NCAA rushing records became the exclusive property of the fabulous T.D.

Dorsett now holds the all-time major college rushing record (5,206) and the career records for rushing attempts (931). In addition he became the first collegiate runner to have four 1,000 yard seasons and the first back to have two 1,500 yard seasons. With four games remaining Dorsett has a chance to add his third 1,500 yard season. To his staggering accomplishments. He has already rushed for 300 yards once, over 200 yards six times and if he gains 100 yards in each of his remaining games, will tie Archie Griffin's career mark of 33-100 yard plus games.

Another interesting sidelight in the distinguished career of T.D., a senior communications major, is that in two of the last three years he has out rushed the Heisman Trophy winner.

To those who would like to compare Pitt's Tony Dorsett to Archie Griffin, the former Ohio State star and Heisman Trophy winner last year, it should be pointed out that Dorsett is quicker, faster and more elusive than Archie, and while there were many pro teams who believed that Griffin wasn't a legitimate first round draft choice, nobody is saying that about the Pitt record breaking zoomer. The feeling about Dorsett is that if he gets with a team that can do any kind of blocking, he can be one of the NFL's leading ball carriers in his rookie season.

Is This the Week for the Sonics?

Those on-again, off-again Seattle Supersonics will start the week where they have been off-again, and again, and again.

The Sonics, with weekend victories over the Phoenix Suns and the Philadelphia 76ers under their belts, left Seattle Monday on their third mini road trip of the season.

This time it will be a quick janut to the state of Texas where the Sonics will face the San Antonio Spurs on Tuesday and then the Houston Rockets on Wednesday.

In their third week of the season, the Sonics are still looking for road win number one. Seattle has lost all four road games to this point, and they weren't what you would call squeakers. The Indiana Pacers took the Sonics apart 120-90, Detroit scored a 106-92 win, the Milwaukee and Kansas City picked up 12 and 20 point wins, respectively.

At home it's been a different story, or a different team.

The win over Philadelphia this past Sunday was the Sonics' 21st consecutive regular reason victory on their home floor. The last time the Sonics lost at home in regular season was on February 8 when they dropped an overtime decision to the Phoenix Suns.

The Sonics will return home for their usual Friday-Sunday pair of games in the Coliseum facing the Kansas City Kings and the Indiana Pacers. It will be the second time the Sonics have met each of these teams and Seattle has lost them both.

HI BOXING FANS -- Here we go into another week and there is some boxing news about Seattle. As most of you have read in the dailies, a big show is on the 20th of this month. As you can see this falls on a Saturday and that is a strange day for boxing, but also it will be televised all over the States and in some European countries. That is a big break for this town and I hope that the show is a good one as it will show what the sports fans in this town go for.

The last televised show from Las Vegas was a real good one. Mike Quarry beat Tom Bethea in ten tough rounds, and Duaune Bobick beat Fred Houpe. That last name works into "Young Sanford". This also was a good ten round fight. What I'm worried about is the card here. I know that Ibar Arrington and Pat Duncan will be a good one as long as it lasts, which could be ten gory rounds as both men cut very easily. I'm sure that the Matchmaker for Global Productions, Joe Williams, will try and get a good one together. As I said, I for one do not want the country to see that the Seattle fans will just go for anything you bring them.

We already have heard that most of the ticket prices for the Kingdome events might have to be raised in order for the Dome to just break even. Now that does not mean that the teams are going to get better as the prices go up. It just shows how gullible the sports fan is. The powers that be want you fans and have a suspicion that you will take whatever is offered. I really hope that is not the case, but it sure looks that way. On this next boxing card that is going all over the country I want the best for Seattle and I'm sure that Global will give it to us. Also on this show we will get a chance to see Bob Foster. You all remember him - the former Lightheavy Weight Champion. He is on the comeback trail and hopes to get another shot at the Title. If that is the case let him show you fans that he is entitled to it by fighting someone that will make him work for the win. One thing for certain, we do have another week to let you fans know about the show and you do know that you will get the FACTS about it here in this column.

I told you last week about George Chemeres being back in the boxing game. Already he has a fight booked for Pierrie Fourie in Denmark. As he told me last Friday, Fourie will be boxing a top ranking fighter in Copenhagen. I knew that George would get going as he is one of the men in boxing that knows that game inside out, and I know that this will make it better for everyone around here that does have a fair fighter. And so "Big Ben" will have to get on the ball. I know that most of you fans know Ben is in my stable, and it's just like I said last week George Chemeres works good for his fighters and at the same time makes me work for mine. Ben and I hope to get started real soon. I have told him no later than the first of the year. He knows that and believe me will be ready for his first test. I hope that he will make his debut here in his hometown, but you know how I work. Already we are making plans to fight the first of the year, here or anywhere we can find the right show. Martha has told me that this is the longest stretch of the last ten years that I have been home. Of course she knows that I have been working with Ben all this time. It will make her happy to see him fight as she knows how this sport is and fighters are just like racehorses - if they don't run they forget how. And if fighters don't fight it's the same thing. So Ben knows he will have to fight often, but as you know, in the boxing game Heavyweights get it quick if they can show any potential, and Ben has that.

That's it for this week. Don't forget I will sure let you know about this big show coming here. I know the promoter wants your business, and to me before I recommend the whole thing I have to be sure it's good for you. CI BON

Arrington Invited to Heavy Tourney

Ibar the Sailor Arrington has been invited to an exclusive party by Don King, who would be a kingmaker.

The party is a round-robin boxing tournament to determine the U.S. heavyweight champion and only 14 heavyweights have been chosen to attend. The winner will receive $200,000 in prize money.

To select the 14 best boxers, King turned to the Boxing Bible, Ring Magazine. Associate Editor Johnny Ort had the task of rating the contenders.

Arrington, fresh from a victory over Joe (King) Roman, is ranked 14th in world rankings and #9 on the U.S., the Seattle-Everett battler's first step into the charmed circle of 20 top contenders.

The Sailor will nat have time to savor the ranking before being put to the test. He meets Irish Pat Duncan of Spirit Lake, Idaho, in a 12-round Northwest Heavyweight Championship fight at the Seattle Center Arena on Saturday, November 20.

The Arrington-Duncan battle will be Arrington's first appearance on national television. The King ellmination tournament will be televised also and if Arrington, now with a 19-1-1 record, keeps his winning ways, he could end up with a lot of television exposure.

Tickets for the Arrington-Duncan fight, which also will feature a 10-rounder pitting former lightheavyweight champ Bob Foster ahainst a yet-unnamed opponent, are on sale at the usual outlets, priced from $3.50 to $15.

Seahawks Face Vikings

Seattle Head Coach Jack Patera knows the Minnesota Vikings as well as any coach in the National Football League outside of Bloomington, Minnesota.

He spent seven years as the defensive line coach for Minnesota so it wasn't surprising when he was asked what he feared most about the Vikings, and simply said, "The Vikings."

Minnesota, bidding for its eighth NFC Central Division title in nine years and third NFC title in four years, takes a 7-1-1 record into this week's game with the expansion Seattle Seahawks in an 11 a.m. CST contest at Metropolitan Stadium.

Seattle is coming off its second win of the season, a 30-13 victory over Atlanta, to boost its season record to 2-7, while Minnesota upped its record by defeating Detroit, 31-23.

"It's not fair to compare our team with an established team like Minnesota," says Patera. "When you look back on some of the teams we've played like Los Angeles, Dallas, St. Louis and San Francisco, they've just used us for practice."

Nevertheless, Patera is looking forward to the game.

"It will be a lot of fun for me as a coach to play the game," he says. "By some miracle maybe we can be in contention throughout the whole game."

Patera won't be the only Seahawk with a Minnesota background. Other ex-Vikings include Seattle General Manager John Thompson, who was the Vikings first publicity director in 1961 and was assistant general manager before he left in 1970; defensive coordinator Bob Hollway, who was a Minnesota assistant for four years; defensive end Bob Lurtsema and wide receiver Sam McCullum. Reserve offensive tackle Dave Simonson is a former University of Minnesota player.

Lurtsema will be honored at halftime in a special Welcome Back Benchwarmer Bob ceremony.

"Bob has played pretty solid for us," says Patera of Lurtsema, who has become Starter Bob with the Seahawks. "We are certainly happy to have him. And Sam McCullum is probably our fastest receiver. Sam has made some big plays for us and we're just lucky he was available in the veteran allocation."

Super Bowl Highlight Film Now Available to Local Groups

FREE-LOAN FEATURE COVERS CLASSIC'S FIRST DECADE

DETROIT -- A new sound and color motion picture covering highlights of the first 10 years of professional football's Super Bowls is now available to local groups from Chrysler Corporation's free-loan, sports film library.

The exclusive 27-minute, 16 mm film captures all the great plays -- and some of the memorable mis0lays -- in Super Bowl history starting with the initial dominance of Vince Lombardi and the Green Bay Packers. The incredible New York Jets upset victory, the flashy Dallas Cowboys and the power and precision of the Miami Dolphins and Pittsburgh Steelers in their championship years are all recaptured in the film.

"A Decade of Super Bowls" is the latest addition to the growing Chrysler Corporation library of exclusive sports films distributed through 26 outlets of Modern Talking Picture Service. Others in the series include two selections from "The Baseball World of Joe Garagiola": "Memories" and "The Umpire."

"Memories" recalls the by-gone days of Ebbets Field, Connie Mack Stadium and players like Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig and Willie Mays. "The Umpire" focuses on the men in blue and how they see the game as well as how they call it.

Local colleges, men's clubs, sports organizations, church, civic and community groups, or other adult audiences may request playdates for any of the films through their local Dodge or Chrysler-Plymouth dealer or by writing Modern Talking Picture Service, 2323 New Hyde Park Road, New Hyde Park, New York, 11040.

WHEN WILL THE SPENDING END?

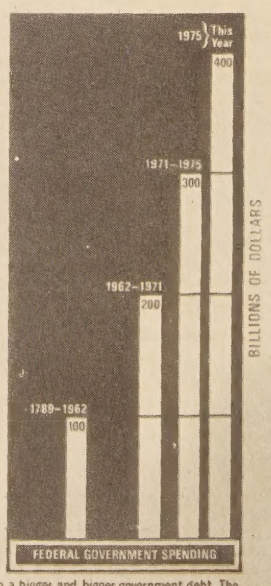
It took 173 years, until 1962, for federal spending to hit $100 billion a year. But by 1971, only nine years later, government spending had jumped to $200 billion a year.

THEN CONSIDER: In 1975, only four years later, government spending actually had reached $300 billion a year. And this year, after just two years, spending broke the $400-billion-a-year barrier.



NOW STOP, LOOK AND THINK!

Such huge spending has resulted in a bigger and bigger government debt. The interest alone on the national debt has more than doubled in ten years and is now over $40 billion a year. In fact, the interest burden on the debt constitutes ten percent of the federal budget!

Ask your representatives in Washington whether they have the courage to help stop this deadly trend. If they do not, we'll eventually wake up to find ourselves living in a fool's paradise.
